

| | | VF | EF |
|-------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|-----|
| 164A | Gc R VOTIS X MVLTIS XX, in wreath. Antioch ANT . RIC 211-12 | 80 | 200 |
| 167†a | Kc R VOTIS XXX MVLTIS XXXX in wreath. Arelate PCON . RIC 293 hybrid: rev. of Constantius II | - | - |
| 167†b | Lc R As last. Arelate PCON . RIC 292 hybrid: rev. of Constantius II | - | - |

JOVIAN

A.D. 363-364

Flavius Jovianus, comes domesticorum, was chosen emperor by the army after Julian's unfortunate death during his campaign against the Persians in 363. After negotiating a humiliating peace treaty which cost the Romans significant amounts of territory, Jovian withdrew from Persia. Together with his army he went first to Antioch and then westwards, where he died in Asia Minor in February 364. During his brief reign he restored the anti-pagan laws abolished by Julian.

Obverse legends.

- A. DN IOVIANVS PEP AVG.
B. DN IOVIANVS PF AVG.

Obverse bust.

All are draped, cuirassed, pearl diadem, right.

All coins are reduced siliquae unless otherwise stated. For a discussion of fourth-century silver denominations and their names, see the Introduction.

| | | VF | EF |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------|--------|
| 4 | A R GLORIA ROMANORVM, emperor in mil. dres stg. facing beneath arch, hldg. spear and globe. Antioch ANT . RIC 226 light miliarensis | £1,600 | £3,750 |
| 7† | B R RESTITVTOR REIP, emperor in mil. dress hldg. labarum in r., Victory on globe in l. Arelate PCONST . RIC 328 light miliar-ensis | 1,750 | 4,000 |
| 33†a | B R VOT V MVL X, in wreath. Constantinople CPA . RIC 172 | 100 | 250 |
| 33†b | As last. Constantinople CPA . RIC 173 | 100 | 250 |
| 33Aa | B R VOT V MVL X in wreath. Arelate PCONST . RIC 329 siliqua | 250 | 550 |